

Linux Installfest

An installfest is a get together of people who are interested in using Linux or Open Source.

- Bring your PC, and have Linux installed on it by friendly, knowledgeable enthusiasts. You need a hard disk with about 6GB of free space and at least 64 MB of Ram. (will we repartition disk drives?)
- Learn by observing Linux systems being installed.
- Attend one of the informative presentations.
- Receive a complimentary CDRom with a bootable Linux systems (You can run Linux from CDRom without installing it on your PC)
- Browse a selection of Linux books (available for sale from Dymock's)
- Talk to people that are interested in this worldwide collaborative movement.

Installfest venue: Silicon Systems, 73 Sydney Street, Petone

Date and time: 24 September 2006 from 10h30 onwards

Visit website: <http://www.wellyug.org.nz/index.php> (on left panel)

[illegible]